

EDMONDS - KINGSTON

Edmonds, 20 minutes north of Seattle, embraces the Washington State Ferries terminal on the waterfront, where three beaches are designated marine life sanctuaries. Brackett's Landing Park just north of the ferry terminal is a living marine lab with tidal pools sometimes visited by sea lions who can be heard barking from the nearby jetty. Watch divers who journey from all parts of the northwest to explore Edmonds Underwater Park.

Kingston has regular Washington State Ferry service across Puget Sound, to and from Edmonds. It is an important entry point to the Kitsap and Olympic Peninsula, located just 9 miles from the Hood Canal Bridge on Highway 104. It has maintained the charm of a small town yet offers the amenities to residents and tourists of many restaurants, gift shops, realtors, a driving range, florists and much more.

BREMERTON

Waterfront Park, Marina and Ferry Dock in Downtown Bremerton

Bremerton enjoys the ferry service of Washington State Ferries (daily) and Kitsap Ferry Company (weekdays only). Service on both ferries is to Seattle's downtown waterfront. WSF operates vehicle/passenger vessels to and from Bremerton. Kitsap Ferry Co. runs a "passenger only" ferry during commuter hours. Both ferries depart and arrive on the waterfront in downtown Bremerton.

The commercial community of Silverdale is north of Bremerton. Shopping Centers and fast food restaurants line the streets. A small historical area hugs Dyes Inlet around the museum and park. Keyport north of Silverdale is a small navy base with a museum.
